Tradition as a Progress

In 1912, Albrecht Jung GmbH & Co. KG was founded in Schalksmühle located in the Sauerland region of North-Rhine Westphalia, Germany. Within over 100 years of its successful history, the company has established as a specialist for electrical switches and systems under the motto “Progress as a Tradition”. Having its own subsidiaries and represented by a number of agencies all over the world, JUNG has firmly established in the industry, also on an international scale. Our success is based on teamwork and innovative strength.

Made in Germany

JUNG provides equipment and systems that win over by advanced technology, sophisticated design, and a large variety of features. On the one hand, our portfolio includes switches, socket outlets, dimmer, and observers. On the other, it includes innovative systems for controlling features in your home. From lighting, blind, or temperature control to wireless and KNX technologies, door communication, and multimedia control, a large range of applications is covered. In addition to comfort and security, also the requirements regarding cost-effectiveness and energy efficiency are met. JUNG manufactures its products in Germany. At our sites in Schalksmühle and Lünen , we continuously manufacture high-quality products on which our worldwide customers rely. For this reason, JUNG was awarded a certificate in 2011: As the first manufacturer in North-Rhine Westphalia, the company was awarded the “Made in Germany” certificate by TÜV NORD.
